RUPERT USED HIS BROOM.

Now He's Held to Await the Result of Schartz's Injuries.

Adam Rupert, fifty-nine years old, of 46 Lawrence street, was held in the Harlem Police Court this morning to await the result of injuries inflicted by him upon Jacob Schartz, of 537 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, yesterday.

Rupert, who is employed by the Street-Cleaning Department, was at work at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Seventh avenue yesterday morning when several young fellows began to annoy him and took his broom away from him. He went into a saloon on the corner, and when he came out his broom was lying in the gutter.

He picked the broom up and broke it over the head of Schartz, who, he thought, was one of the crowd that had been annoying him.
Schartz, who is a conductor on one of the cable cars, was taken home, and Rupert was arrested.

for Lawrence T. Neal are beginning to think a few thoughts.

When the President's message was published it was hotly denounced by many who later had nothing to say save words of approval. It was far from suiting the Neal faction as a whole, and their opponents have not been slow to brand them as being opposed to the wishes of the Administration.

At the same time, Neal's personal following is very strong, indeed, and it will go far towards lifting him in.

The main difficulty with the Campbell men is that they have not picked up any man as the opponent of Neal. They are scattered between several candidates, but think, nevertheless, that they can control enough votes to prevent Neal's nomination on the first or second ballot.

but think, nevertheless, that they can control enough votes to prevent Neal's momination on the first or second ballot to-morrow, after which they confidently expect that gentlemans following to go to pleces. Neal's friends, however, expect to begin painting the town when the clerk has announced the result of the first ballot.

After the adjournment of the district conventions this evening the main body of delegates, who are not required in the committee rooms, will repair to Music Hall, where a great Democratic love feast is to be held. Candidates Lentz, Neal, Taylor and others will speak; there will be music in abundance and a profuse display of fireworks.

There are no less than nine candidates for Lieutenant-Governor, of whom Jesse P. Forbes, of Coshocton County, is said to have the greatest strength. The name of John J. Lentz has been mentioned for this position, but chiefly by his opponents, who appear rather anxious to remove him from the race for first place.

The position of State Treasurer is made conspicuous by having but two avowed candidates—F. C. Ackerman, of Richland, and B. C. Blackburn, of Coshocton.

On the strength of her statement in the police court the Grand Jury indicted the girl for perjury, and Lawyer Levy argued that if her affidavit in support of the order of arrest was true, her sworn statement before Justice Meade was false, and hence she is in any case guilty of perjury and unworthy of beitef. affidavits from his client and others con-the order of arrest was true, her sworn statement before Justice Meade was false, and hence she is in any case guilty of perjury and unworthy of belief.

To further complicate matters the girl's counsel, it is said, will to-morrow introduce the affidavits to which he referred this morning, in which she swears that her statement sworn to in the Police Court was false and her original affidavit charging. Dr. Behrman with her betrayal, and on which she had him locked up in Ludiow Street Jail, was true.

Dr. Behrman said this morning that the story told of the alleged betrayal of the girl is absolutely false. He said he graduated as a physician at the State University of Vermont, and received his degree of M. D., which, however, does not permit him to practise in this State.

Subsequently he graduated in medicine at the New York University, but the Faculty refused him a diploma on the ground of having been guilty of immoral conduct in connection with Miss Koschnofsky's charges.

It is to gain his diploma, the doctor said, that he is determined to fight Miss Koschnofswy's charges to the end, all of which he said are influenced by his enemies, some of whom wrote anonymously to the New York University, with the result that the Faculty refused him a diploma.

Lawyer Levy said this morning that in view of the fact that Miss Koschnofsky has aiready sworn in the police court voluntarily that she had previously perjured herself and now wants to make an affidavit that she perjured herself before the Police Justice, he thinks he will have no .....cuity in clearing his client.

'DEAD HIS LAST TWO WEEKS.'

Dr. Nelson H. Bergen's Testimony in the Shann Murder Trial.

He Prescribed Mercury Only Once for Internal Use.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 9.-When Mrs. Shann made her appearance in the court-room this morning at the second son her appearance seemed to be greatly changed since yesteray.

Her face seemed thin and was decidedly pale, and she wore a decidedly weary edly pale, and she wore a decidedly wearly expression. Since her confinement in jail she has assumed a stolid and stern manner, but as the day of the trial drew near this wore away, and it is plainly evident that the strain is beginning to tell upon her. Her daughter and son were in attendance, and were devoted to her.

The defense asked J. Watson Shann a few questions in cross-examination, which only brought out the fact that the body was emaciated.

The State began their medical testimony with the evidence of Nelson H. Hergen, the physician who attended John Shann during his illness. Dr. Hergen has been practising since 1873 and has been the Shanns family physician for ten years.

John Shann came to him Feb. 22 last, he said, complaining of stomach trouno food.

He gave him over twenty prescriptions containing astrate of potash, buchu accia, citrate of potash, morphia and anti-kammia. He gave prescriptions containing anti-kammia, morphia, bismuth and calomel on three occasions. The amount of calomel prescribed was 21-10 grains, and of this 15-10 grains were used. were used.

These prescriptions were for half grain quantities. There was one prescription March 28 of one grain, which he said he did not think was prescribed for John Shann. This was the only mercury which he prescribed to be taken internally. He prescribed disinfectants in the shape of tablets, to be dissolved in water, and a bottle of Platt's chloride.

Our Loss; Your Gain

This sale of ours, by which we sacrifice absolutely fifty cents on every dollar of Furniture and Carpets we dispose of, means a serious loss to us. But the loss to us is very small in comparison to what your loss will be if you don't at once take advantage of this great sale.

Everything will be sold at fifty cents on the dollar, without reserve, and the splendid stock of FURNI-NITURE and CARPETS to select from surpasses any stock shown under one roof in the world.
